

Examples of Sanitation Certification Marks

The below agencies are accredited to certify commercial food equipment. The certification indicates that the equipment meets sanitation standards as required by regulation.

Examples of Field Evaluation Marks

The below agencies are accredited to evaluate commercial food equipment. Field Evaluations are not Sanitation Certifications. A field evaluation typically includes a written report that lists equipment deficiencies. If the deficiencies are corrected, the Health Authority may allow the use of the equipment.

The list of agencies herein is not all-inclusive and is not an endorsement by SNHD. If the equipment is sanitation certified or evaluated by a different agency, SNHD will verify that it is appropriately accredited.
